Telephone call from Jack Revelle in Saigon - March 17, 1975

Report from Jack --

Banmethuot is definitely in the hands of the other side. The refugees coming out had settled in a village that was re-taken by North Vietnamese.

Hue - they expect an attack in the next two or three days.

Danang - There is heavy shelling outside the city

Qui Wan - all U. S. people have been taken out - we did not have any people there.

Dalat - There are a number of North Vietnamese around the city. Our missionaries are still there. There is no immediate threat.

Cantho - There are 2,000 to 3,000 North Vietnamese around the city. Ellisons are still there

Dilinh - The Irwins have left, and are in Saigon.

Quinhon - The Companjen's went back for two days, and will return to Danang.

That's about it -- the situation is bad at the present time.

All of the missionaries are good, except the ones in Banmethuot whom we don't know about.
