Davud:

A few weeks ago when Mary and I spent time with Paul and Gerri Carlson, Paul told me about a phone call that your mother made to him after the death of his sister, Joyce Carlson.

Paul did not get your mother's phone number, and he would like to call her back. So he asked me for the phone number of Esther Van Hein.

Please send your parents' phone number and address. Thanks.

I suppose your mother knew that Joyce was a poet of considerable skill. I copied quite a bit of her poetry. A few of her poems were published by some poetry guild in Delaware. However, I have not seen any evidence that much of it was published. What does your mother know about this?

Peace to you,

Luke S. Martin
